

Universität Trier

Fachbereich I – Modellversuch Postgraduiertenstudium Psychobiologie

Dissection of schizophrenia susceptibility loci at chromosomes 15q14-15.1 and 22q13.33

Dissertation

von

Savira Ekawardhani

Trier, im November 2008

Gutachter:

Prof. Dr. Jobst Meyer

Prof. Dr. Claude Muller

My inspirations :
Nayla & Ayah

Acknowledgement

I wish to thank Prof. Dr. Jobst Meyer for entrusting me with this project, for valuable discussions, for the freedom to pursue my own ideas, for financial support, and for proofreading of my work, also for the cares and advices for living in Germany. Thank you Prof. Dr. Claude P. Muller for co-refereeing my thesis.

To my long-time colleagues Dr. Dirk Moser, Ulrike Schülter, Haukur Palmason and Darja Henseler, thank you for the scientific discussions, for shared agarose gels etc., for fun, help, news, enjoyable Friday's breakfasts, trips and conferences.

To all diploma students in the Neurobehavioral Genetics lab for fruitful discussions and great atmosphere: Brigitte Lindenberger, Christian Vogler, Jessica Sigmund, Anne Molitor, Silja Bellingrath, Henriette Wagner and Fabian Streit.

I would also like to thank Prof. Dr. Klaus-Peter Lesch, Dr. Seth E. Dobrin, Dr. Dietrich A. Stephan, Prof. Thomas F. Wienker, Gabriela Ortega and Robert Fürst for the fruitful and helpful collaborations. My gratitude also for Jonathan Turner, PhD for reading and correcting this dissertation.

Thank you to all my present colleagues in the Division of Neurobehavioral Genetics, to Prof. Dirk Hellhammer for initiating the Postgraduate Program Psychobiology, to all my former and present colleagues in the Division of Theoretical and Clinical Psychobiology:

Dr. Andrea Gierens, Irmgard Layes, Nicole Reinert, Annemie Fritzen, Celine Pleimling, Irmtraud Reinert for everything necessary to run the lab. Very special thanks to Sabine Albertz and Christel Neu for help in administrative works and every day's life.

I am very indebted to Dr. Michael Stumpp and Dr. Lusy Handoko for the great discussions and supports in designing and establishing the molecular biology and biochemistry work throughout my study. I am most grateful to Dr. Kaspar Binz for the great supports, understanding and his persistence that helped me to finish this dissertation.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the steady prayers and supports from my parents, my brother, and my best friends Susanti and Lusy. Many thanks also for my new good friends in Zürich, for their understanding and moral support in my difficult times.

Above all, I would like to express my deepest love and gratitude to my husband and my daughter for their sacrifices, care, love, understanding and for many stolen family times.